So...still working nonstop 25/8. Making final choices. Finishing things rather than just starting...slow but steady. Playing guitars today. Soundscapes and chaos. Everyone is working really hard and putting in long hours. We have a great team here in the lab and they are helping to make magic daily.

Starting work on a giant ABL photobook which will include images from the film and feature some photos by our friend Mr. Brent Bolthouse. It's exciting and beautiful to see all that ice presented in such away. Fun.

Spoke to the genius himself Dr. David Finchois today. I'm picking his rather large brain about an upcoming video idea. Can't say anymore. He's the king and very kind to share his thoughts and time with me. I'm always inspired and encouraged by him.

Oh, went to visit Kanye on the set of his new vid for Robocop the other day, which the esteemed Hype W is directing. Kanye's girl, Amber, is in it and made a great robocop. A very cool, kind, and creative group of people.

We have been having fun with twitter and kyte if you haven't yet, please come join us.

And last but not least today is the birthday of our favorite drummer madman extraordinaire SHANNON LETO!!! Send your bday wishes to The Shanimal himself on the message boards or via twitter.
